The truck had a manufacture date of 4/2002 The C12 engine has a 2KS serial number. The owner said 355/410HP MT for the engine, however, the tag said ADV 355HP 370HP MAX I think that would imply that this particular C12 engine was not a bridge engine, which would involve less ECM update problems.

I have one truck with a C12, a 1998 Pete 378 13 spd transmission. Seems to be a good engine. No problems with the motor, some with the Pete truck itself (wiring issues). It doesn't burn any oil, and its been quite a while since a rebuild. The Jakes are the best I have seen in a Cat motor.

I have a Pdi shop near here. Even though it is triple the cost I think the ecm tune will give me better fuel economy, along with the power.
