RNA interference (RNAi) is a biological process in which RNA molecules inhibit gene expression or translation, by neutralizing targeted mRNA molecules. Historically, RNAi was known by other names, including co-suppression, post-transcriptional gene silencing (PTGS), and quelling. The detailed study of each of these seemingly different processes elucidated that the identity of these phenomena ...

1. Introduction. Gelatin is a soluble protein compound obtained by partial hydrolysis of collagen, the main fibrous protein constituent in bones, cartilages and skins; therefore, the source, age of the animal, and type of collagen, are all intrinsic factors influencing the properties of the gelatins (Johnston-Banks, 1990). Although to date, up to 27 different types of collagen have been ...

Induced stem cells (iSC) are stem cells derived from somatic, reproductive, pluripotent or other cell types by deliberate epigenetic reprogramming. They are classified as either totipotent (iTC), pluripotent (iPSC) or progenitor (multipotent – iMSC, also called an induced multipotent progenitor cell – iMPC) or unipotent – (iUSC) according to their developmental potential and degree of ...

1. Introduction. Plasticizers are an important class of low molecular weight non-volatile compounds that are widely used in polymer industries as additives .The primary role of such substances is to improve the flexibility and processability of polymers by lowering the second order transition temperature, the glass transition temperature (T_g). The council of the IUPAC (International Union of ...
